Dear Caledonia Community Schools community,

Last week our district began experiencing spotty internet access in most of our buildings. Our technology department has been working diligently to troubleshoot the issue and believed they had it resolved last week Friday. The good news is our student information system, human resources, business office platforms, and other key operational services have been unaffected. It is important to note that our student and staff information has not been compromised. However, our google platforms, including email and google drive, remain intermittent. We realize many teachers, staff, and students utilize various google apps on a daily basis for planning, instruction, and homework. We appreciate the work our staff is doing to adjust while we work to restore connectivity.

Our technology team has been working with various outside vendors to do a deeper analysis of what is causing the spotty access. We appreciate your patience and understanding as we continue to work to find a resolution as quickly as we can.

Sincerely,

CCS Administration
