Dear Caledonia Community Schools Families,

As a result of grant funding received from both the state and federal government, CCS has partnered with BookNook to provide virtual one-to-one reading tutoring for our students who qualify. This opportunity is free of charge. BookNook provides high-impact tutoring through intentional, multifaceted programming that is geared toward accelerating student learning. High-impact tutoring is about addressing the learning skills necessary to make progress and advance to those instructional next steps identified at each grade level.

Tutoring will occur two to three times a week for eight or six weeks (16 sessions total). Each session is 30 minutes in length. There are five cohorts during the school year, and a summer 2024 cohort for you to choose from. Students may participate in any or all of the cohorts. The first cohort begins September 26, 2023. Tutoring will take place virtually at home! Students will be allowed to utilize a school device to access tutoring sessions if needed.

Tutors are well-trained and consistent over each 8 week time period. All tutors have at least 1 year of teaching experience, have earned a bachelor's degree, undergone a 50-state criminal background check, and demonstrated the ability to teach and engage students in an online setting. BookNook utilizes high-quality instructional materials aligned to standards and based on research. Student progress is monitored so that instruction is matched to student needs.

We are excited to extend this invitation to you and your child(ren). Sessions will be offered beginning the week of September 25, 2023. Families will be able to select the days and time frame that work best for their student(s). Please direct any questions to your child's school principal.

To register your child(ren), please follow the link below.

Initial registration deadline is September 4!
